Legal Education and Bar Passage

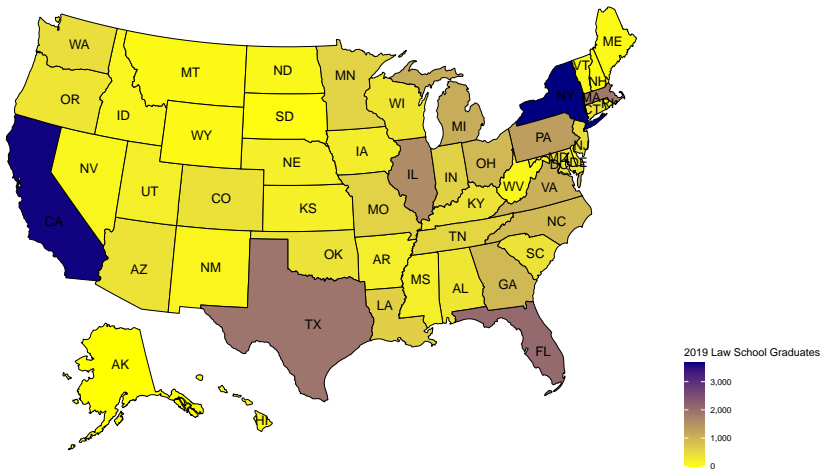

- Bar passage is required to receive a license to practice law in the U.S.
- Each state (and D.C.) is responsible for creating, administering, and evaluating its own bar exam
- 36 states / jurisdictions have adopted the Uniform Bar Exam, administered by the National Conference of Bar Examiners
- Following graduation, J.D. holders typically take the bar exam in July; if they do not pass, there is typically a second examination in February
- In most states, potential attorneys can take the bar exam as many times as they wish

- <https://analytix.accesslex.org/DataSet>
- Data on $N = 198$ ABA-accredited law schools in the U.S. (from 2019)
- Things we're going to focus on today:
 - Law school characteristics +
 - Class / student characteristics =
 - Bar passage results
- Contains many, many other variables:
 - Institutional resources (libraries, etc.)
 - Students: full-time vs. part-time status
 - Scholarships, grants, etc.
 - Employment status (in very great detail; part- vs. full-time, temporary vs. permanent, etc.)
 - Most common state of employment

Predictions and Relative Performance

Our model predicts:

$$\hat{Y}_i = \hat{\beta}_0 + \hat{\beta}_1 X_{1i} + \hat{\beta}_2 X_{2i} + \dots + \hat{\beta}_k X_{ki}$$

The residual is:

$$\hat{u}_i = Y_i - \hat{Y}_i$$

Residuals indicate relative performance:

- $\hat{u}_i > 0 \leftrightarrow$ the school's bar passage rate is higher than the model predicts
- $\hat{u}_i < 0 \leftrightarrow$ the school's bar passage rate is lower than the model predicts
